

Here to help

Cafcass workers are here to help.
Especially when your mummy and daddy or other people in your family can't agree about the time they spend
with you.
Remember, what's happening is not your fault.

Sometimes children can feel happy, sad or not sure of who they want to spend time with.

That's why I may talk to you about your family and what you like most about it.

what do you
like most at home?

I also talk to your mummy,
daddy and family, and other people who care about you.
Then I write an important letter
about what you want to happen
and what I think is best for you.

This letter goes to a very wise person called a judge or a magistrate. They work in a court that helps families.

They listen to everyone and decide what is best for you.

After all, we want you to be happy. And it's my job to help make that happen.
